Evaluation Committee and Entrepreneurship Project Follow up at ANII Uruguay

Claudia has been working in the Fintech ecosystem for over 20 years with a strong focus on business development and operational efficiency. She was a founding partner and the CEO of the Uruguayan fintech Manentia Software for 13 years, leading the company's vision and development of digital banking solutions until its acquisition by the industry-leading Technisys.

At Technisys she took the role of services management director and business development, leading strategic projects all over the Americas.

She was an active member of a start-up project evaluation committee at ANII and at CUTI, activities that allow her to continuously be involved in the start-up ecosystem and contribute and learn from it.

Mother of Matias and amateur photographer, she likes to keep an open mind, see the big picture and mix and match knowledge and experiences from disparate areas into her work
